

Dear friends in the family of God,

I am so pleased to let you in on some of what God is doing in my life and invite you to come along for the ride. As you know, God has called me to be part of the Aid Sudan team to minister to the people of southern Sudan. Based in Kampala, Uganda, I will train Ugandan missionaries in health and hygiene, who will then go into Sudanese communities to teach them how to live transformed lives, both spiritually and physically.

I will work alongside Aid Sudan's host missionary family already in Kampala to greet teams from the U.S and beyond, especially medical teams that I will help facilitate. I have several needs listed below that must be fulfilled before I can begin the work to which God has called me.

Departure and Start-up Expenses (car, shipping, travel, home set-up)	$32,000
Projected Annual Needs (insurance, rent, gas, travel into Sudan, social security, personal costs)	$52,000

There are several ways you can help to meet these needs. One way would be that you, your Sunday School class, small group, church, or mission group may choose to adopt a particular item to fully fund. For example, you may like to help with the monthly utility cost, gas for the car, or medical insurance. You can even donate unused airline miles. Another way would be that you might choose to make a one-time donation. Whatever your decision, it is strictly between you and God. I am fully confident that God will provide exactly what I need.

Regardless of your decision to provide financial support, I covet your prayers and encouragement. I cannot do this without you.

Thanks be to God for all of you,

Kerrie
